Pain may be an early symptom with some cancers like bone cancers or testicular cancer. A headache that does not go away or get better with treatment may be a symptom of a brain tumor. Back pain can be a symptom of cancer of the colon, rectum, or ovary. Most often, pain due to cancer means it has already spread (metastasized) from where it started.

Lung cancer symptoms can be different from person to person, and while most people show at least some early symptoms, some show none [8, 9]. Moreover, symptoms particular to lung cancer may be subtle and not directly related to the lungs and chest (e.g. tiredness and weight loss are sometimes the presenting symptom) [8, 9]. Consequently, symptoms are often misinterpreted or misattributed by both patients and General Practitioners (GPs).
