You are such a kook. Kook means "beginner surfer." It is not a neutral term; it carries a slug of derision, a brand for the clueless, for those without hope, without grace, without rhythm. To be a kook is to be consigned to a kind of beginner's hell. The seal disappeared in a swirl of green water. Good. I always messed up when someone was watching.

Surfers have their own word for posers. They are called "kooks". We don't know exactly why they use a different word, but one reason might be that a kook can be worse then a poser. While the poser at the skate park is only making a fool of himself trying to pretend he knows how to skate, he is often not interfering with anybody else's fun. Just because you're a beginner surfer doesn't mean you are a kook.
