Resonant frequency of any given system is the frequency at which the maximum-amplitude oscillation occurs. All buildings have a natural period, or resonance, which is the number of seconds it takes for the building to naturally vibrate back and forth.

This is an obvious mode of failure, and is reflected by governing codes that structural engineers use to safely design civilization's structures.

How resonant frequency works for removing the cancer is based on the same principle that says that a piece of glass will shatter when it is exposed to a noise that is the right “pitch.” To actually break the glass, the vibration (coming from a person’s voice or another source) would have to match the
